Dinner Meeting: January 17, 2006
“Project Management and Community Service”
 Presented by Bill Basl, Executive Director
 Washington Commission for National and Community Service

As we build excellent project management skills to serve our employers and clients, we are also building an asset for our communities. Non-profit and community service organizations are always faced with challenging projects and limited resources. Bill Basl, Executive Director of the Washington Commission for National and Community Service (WCNCS) knows this better than anyone. The WCNCS exists “to expand the ethic of service throughout Washington State by inviting citizens of all ages and backgrounds to contribute their time and talents to strengthen and promote service and volunteerism as strategies for building healthy communities.” Come hear Bill describe the great things organizations like AmeriCorps, Senior Corps, and other local and national programs are doing; and how you might be able to help.

Biography

William C. Basl has worked for the state of Washington for 33 years in many capacities including Human Resources, Employment Development and National Service. Bill currently serves as Executive Director of the Washington Commission for National and Community Service, established in 1994 to implement and expand volunteerism and national service initiatives including AmeriCorps. He is the co-founder of Service America and has also developed the nationally recognized Leadership Forum for National Service Executives at the University of Washington. A native of Pittsburgh, Bill received a B.S. degree in Business Administration from the University of Rhode Island.
